GAURA LINDHEIMERI ‘PINK CLOUD’
Pink Cloud Gaura

Why we love it...
Pink Cloud Gaura is a prolific bloomer, able to provide a mass of airy, deep pink flowers over a delightfully long period from May until first frost. The foliage is tinged with deep red and its habit is sturdy and upright. Pink Cloud will not fall open like other Gauras. It reaches a height of 30 inches and, if given enough room, it can spread up to 3.5 feet. Gaura is an Arizona native. While tolerating poor, infertile soils, it is extremely drought and heat tolerant. Pink Cloud is great for perennial borders, containers, and cut flowers.

Lydia says: Gaura’s roots tolerate very low temperatures, and though this plant’s foliage may freeze to the ground in winter, it re-sprouts from these hardy roots reliably each spring!
